

Corporation in Southland (1987-90), Pine Plan New Zealand Ltd (1990-97), Wrightson Forestry Services (1997-2005) and more latterly has been an independent forestry consultant trading as Guild Forestry and as a real estate salesperson for PGG Wrightson Real Estate Ltd.

“Dennys is being recognised for his on-going interaction and positive mentoring of younger staff and NZIF members, through which he has been seen as a role model for many of the foresters he has come into contact with and the high standards he has set for foresters involved with a wide range of forest management and planning activities,” said Dr McEwen. “In the last decade Dennys has been at the leading edge of promoting multi use forestry in the broadest sense to a wide range of clients whether they be iwi, farmers, District Councils or forestry investors. Dennys, like others of his generation, has been willing to share his knowledge. This explains why his expertise has been sought as a member of the Rural Fire Mediators’ Panel and as Chairman of the School of Forestry Advisory Committee at the University of Canterbury.”

In his 49-year forestry career Mr Guild has served on the NZIF Council (1982-86), had input into NZIF conferences in Kaitia, Invercargill and Queenstown, is currently chairman for the Canterbury Local Section and on the organising committee of the NZIF conference to be held in Christchurch in June 2012.

“The three members have made important and on-going contributions to forestry and the forestry profession, both in New Zealand and overseas and I welcome their elevation to the status of NZIF Fellow,” Dr McEwen said in conclusion.

The 2011 Forester of the Year

Peter Weir recognised for contributions

The New Zealand Institute of Forestry Inc (NZIF) Forester of the Year Award for 2010 was presented to Mr Peter Weir of Christchurch at the Institute’s annual conference in Auckland last week.

In announcing the recipient of this prestigious award, the President of the Institute, Dr Andrew McEwen, noted that the award recognises leadership, excellence and personal integrity. Consideration is given to the nominee’s contribution to New Zealand’s economic, social and environmental development, the use of innovation and new technologies or the creation of a new product or business of significance to forestry. Further consideration is given to professional and academic achievements, broad community involvement, cultural and other achievements.

Mr Weir is Corporate Support Manager for Ernslaw One Ltd., based in Christchurch. But it is his role in promoting the needs of the wider forestry sector for which he is better known. As a member of the executive council of NZ Forest Owners Association and chair of the FOA Environment & Resources Committee, Mr Weir represents the forest industry on the National Environment Standard for forestry working group, the FSC International forest carbon policy working group, the Land and Water Forum, the Primary Sector Water Partnership, the Wilding Conifer project group the Douglas Fir Association and the FSC cluster group. Previously he has been a member of the Forest Owners Association Health, Safety & Training Committee, chaired the Division of Engineers and Geoscientists in the Forest Sector in British Columbia, Canada and chaired the NZ Mountain Safety Council Snow and Avalanche Committee, contributed to the NZFOA Environmental Code of Practice and was a NZ forest industry representative at the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change meeting in Montreal in 2005.

“It is Peter’s tireless and professional approach to representing forestry in a wide range of issues that has earned the respect of his peers and led to the award of NZIF 2011 Forester of the Year”, said Dr McEwen. “I am delighted that the Institute has been able to recognize the achievements of this outstanding member.”

The Forester of the Year award is a large carved wall panel, a 1989 work of Rotorua carver Lyonel Grant. The principal elements portrayed in the carving are Papa Tuanuku and the children of Tane Mahuta (the forests, both native and exotic) as well as an effort to capture their respective uses using traditional design techniques in a contemporary form.

NZIF 2011 Forester of the Year, Peter Weir (right) receives his award from Minister of Forestry Hon David Carter. Photo Tony Neilson, Neilson Publications.